New School Opening

June 8, 2002

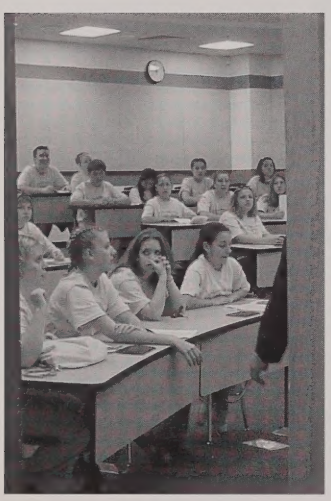
After many years of anticipation for the new building to b finished, the day finally came when students, teachers, faculty and many members of the community witnessed the opening o our new school. Despite the long wait, the finishing touche were made, and we could finally show off our new school.

The main staircase located at the lower entrance was filled with the large number of community members filing into the new school after the ribbon cutting.

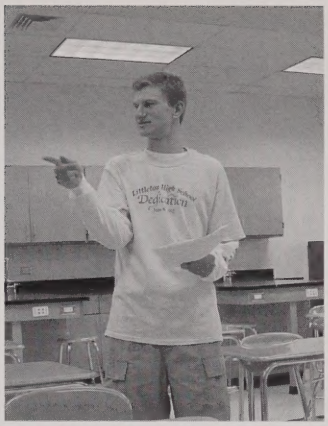
Student guides ask some last minute questions before heading off on tours. Members of the student body from various clubs and activities were asked to participate in this day.



Mrs. Garza's first graders from Shaker Lane School helped out during the ceremony by reciting the "Pledge of Allegiance" in the new school auditorium.

The blue and gold tiger paw in the center of the gym floor not only shows the detail the workers put into our school, but also displays our famous Littleton spirit and pride. We once again have a real gym floor!

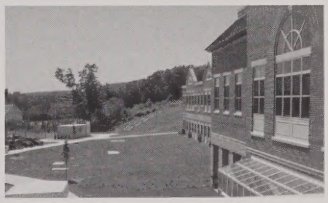
The day wouldn't have been fun without a little dilemma, right? Mysterious water caused part of the school to be blocked off temporarily, and invoked some laughter. Overall, however, the opening day went well.



Tell me more Mike! Mike Rooney, one of the student guides, gives information about the chemistry room to a tour group. The science rooms provide more storage space and areas to do labs.

Mr. D delivers a speech about the long hours and patience put into the process of the new school. It was all worthwhile!

All the members of the Littleton community who coordinated the building of the new school stand up to applaud their laborious efforts and celebrate the opening.



Not only did the new school give the students and faculty much more space inside the building, but also more land around it.

Student representive to the school committee, Shannon McCarthy, was accorded the honor of cutting the ribbon at lower entrance of the new school to signify its opening.

Spirit Week

Spring 2002 and Fall 2002

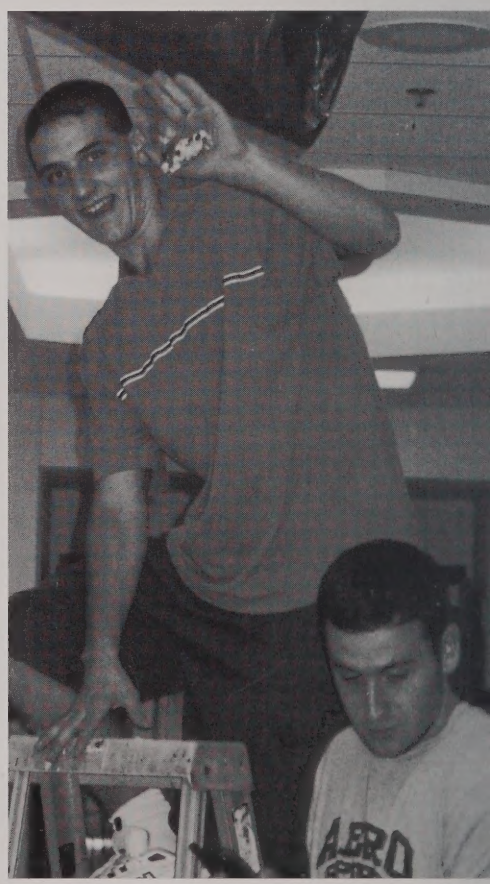
The Spirit Week of Spring 2002 included events unique to the LHS student body: Beach Day, Super Hero Day, Red, White, and Blue Day, and Hallway Decorating.

Fall 2002 brought change; Homecoming and Spirit Week were combined into one week. Some found this a bit overwhelming, yet everyone rose to the challenge. The festivities of Fall 2002's Spirit Week consisted of Beach Day, Occupation Day, Color/Hat Day, and Hallway Decorating. It was a close call, but the sophomores were the victors of the week and brought home the Spirit Pumpkin.

Alison Koegler, Tina Chen, and Colin Goguen seem to be having a good time helping out with the sophomore hallway. The sophomore theme this year was "Winter Wonderland," which earned them first place in the hall decorating contest.

Lynn O'Clair dives into her pie for the pie eatin contest, one of the most exciting events this year.



Ryan Gilbert waves hello as he helps his class decora their "Las Vegas" hallway. The seniors' hallwa came in third place this fall.

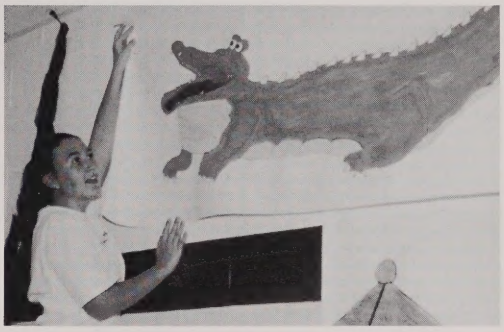
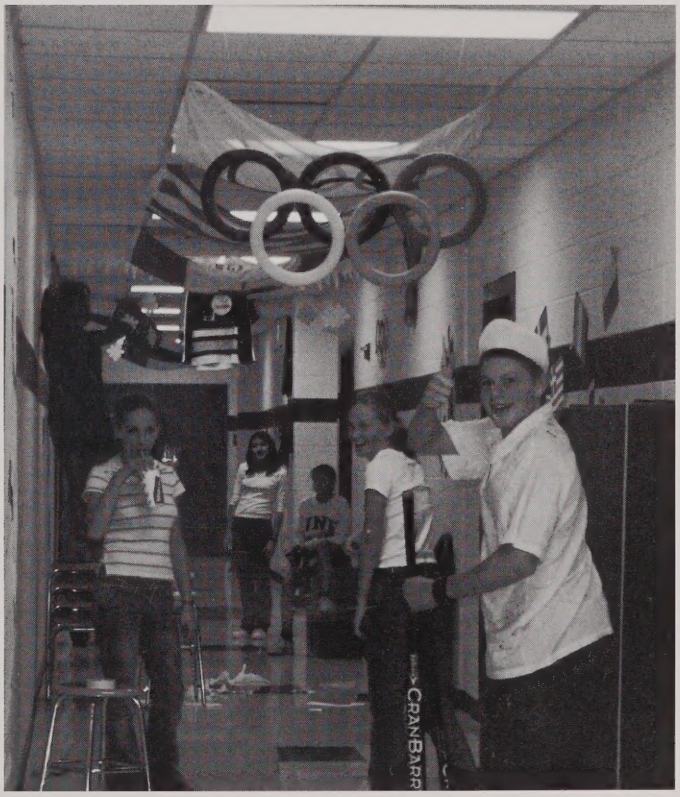
Meghan Scully tapes up one of the murals for the juniors' hallway featuring "Peter Pan." Meghan is always ready to help her class in any way.



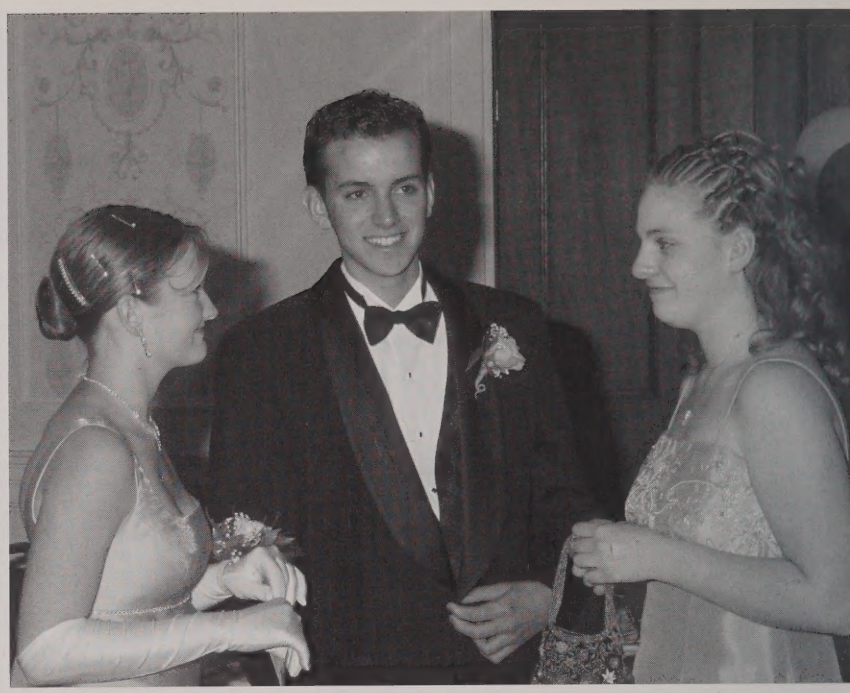


Jamie Newcomb and some of the freshmen smile and show that the decorating of their "Olympic" hallway is going quite well. This was the freshmen's first Spirit Week, and they placed third in all of the festivities.

Joe Graham attempts a grin after a surprise pep rally event. The event included chosen students being called up to see how many marshmallows they could manage to fit into their mouths while saying the words, "Chubby Bunny."

Kerry Dates, Mike Pelland, and Nicole Hatch take a moment to catch up on things. If not dancing, prom go-ers could be found talking or enjoying the appetizers being served.

After a night of much dancing, Jenn French and Katie Callaluca take a moment to show off their dresses. Junior girls said they paid as much as $150 for their dresses.



Andrea Graham, BJ Monat, Krystle Jean, Dan Irwin, Ryan Gilbert, and Nick Kiernan seem to be enjoying the music and dancing. Another popular event of the evening was the signing of the picture frames that were given as prom favors.

In My Life

Prom 2002

The 2002 Prom took place at the Colonial Hotel in Gardner, Massachusetts, on May 10, 2002. As the guests arrived, they had their pictures taken by the grand staircase of the hotel. The guests enjoyed a meal of Chicken Bavarian or Pasta Primavera while being entertained by an impromptu dance performance by Andy Thibeault and 2002 graduate Chris Wenz. The night's festivities including signing picture frames, the crowning of the prom king and queen, and plenty of dancing. Even though the DJ never played the Prom's theme song, In My Life, few noticed and a great time was had by everyone.

This year's Prom King was Andrew Stevens and his court consisted of Lewis West, Andrew Tambling, Andy Loven, and Mark Ross. Nicole Austermann was the 2002 Prom Queen. The queen's court included Midori Williams, Laura Garcia, Esther Kim, and Melissa Thomas.

Homecoming
Fall 2002

Homecoming has been a tradition here at LHS for as long as anyone can remember. This year, because we have finally moved into the new school, Spirit Week was added to the Homecoming festivities.

To start Homecoming off with a bang, Littleton cheerleaders hosted the first Pep Rally of the year to get students excited for the game later that night. Much of the Littleton community attended the football game where the Littleton Tigers easily dominated the Mahar Regional football team. During halftime, the 2002 Homecoming King, Queen, and court were announced. After the Littleton victory, high schoolers flocked to the new cafeteria to dance to the tunes of DJ Nathan Cantino while members of Student Council tallied the percentage of each class attending for Spirit Week points. Homecoming festivities concluded on Sunday with the Homecoming Carnival. It seemed as if most of Littleton joined in the fun of one of the newest Homecoming traditions!

At the Homecoming carnival, Dan LeClair, Mark Cavallo, and sophomore class advisor, Ms. Price, are on the look-out for more people to try their luck at the cake walk.

At the dunk tank, we found Mr. O'Connell shocked by the ice-cold water and perhaps thinking back to why he signed up for this event. "RELAX Mr. O'Connell!

"The Three Tenors" (Jeff Colombo, Mike Rooney, and Ty Augliere) proudly play at the Homecoming football game with the rest of the pep band

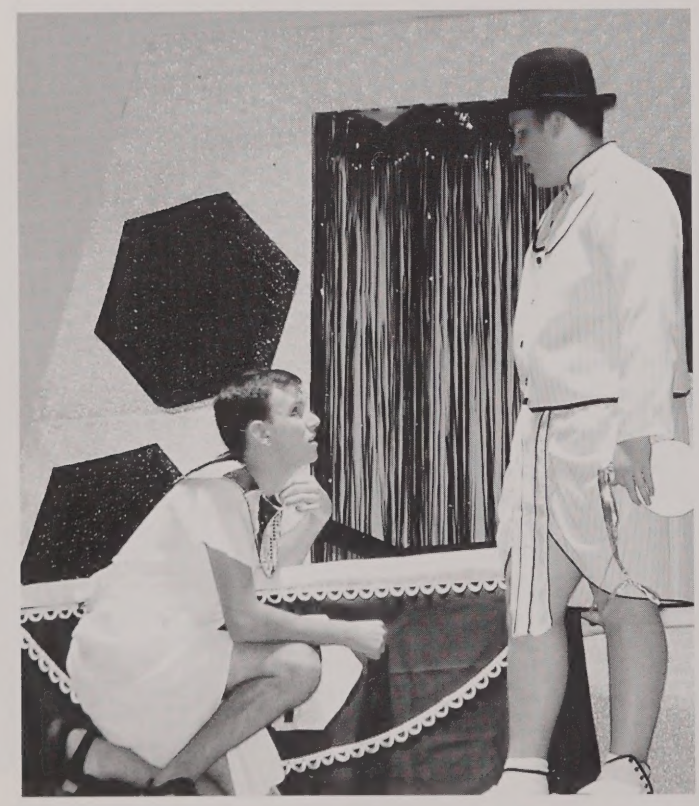
Ali Theriault helps out a customer who wanted to take a shot at the "Leapin' Frogs" booth. The Homecoming Carnival is a new tradition to which the people of Littleton look forward.

Mike Pelland and Andy Thibeault show off their talent at the Homecoming football game by playing for the whole audience. They were a great crowd pleaser!

The Varsity cheerleaders make the football games more fun with their enthusiasm and pep. At this game, the football team had an upset victory!

Pharaoh tells Joseph and his servants about the dream that he had, hoping Joseph will be able to interpret the meaning. This show-stopping number was performed amazingly by sophomore Dan LeClair, a promising face for future theater productions.

Joseph sings his heart out after being chosen as Pharaoh's number two. Veterans of the stage LHS will miss are Mike and the other senior actors, performers, and singers a lot.



Potiphar, a captain and millionaire who buys Joseph as a slave, speaks to Joseph after catching him in the bedroom with Mrs. Potiphar. Andy Thibeault was astoundingly funny in this role which took much practice to get just right. Great job "Tebo!"

Joseph's brothers sell him to passing Ishmaelites due to their jealousy over his coat. The brothers provided much of the play's comic relief, and also performed great songs like "Caanan Days," and "Benjamin's Calypso."

Irs. Jane Granata, drama director for over 20 years, as made "Joseph" her last show at LHS. Although ell-deserving of a retirement, Mrs. Granata will be reatly missed by all of her students, cast members, nd fellow faculty members here at the high school.

oseph shows the coat that his father has given him his jealous brothers. The brothers worked hard at ehearsals to get faces and actions down that clearly epresented how the characters were supposed to be ortrayed.

Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat

November 21 - 24, 2002
Vincent J. Franco Center for Performing Arts

This year's theatrical production was Andrew Lloyd Webber's Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat. The show featured Michael Pelland as Joseph, and Dan LeClair as Pharoah. Alissa Palange and Nancy Brule alternated as the Narrator. Andrew Thibeault took on the role of Potiphar, and his wife was played by Brittany Steel, who alternated nights with LHS alumna, Adrienne Haduch. The whole cast thoroughly enjoyed the performances, and LHS wishes the best of luck on and off stage to the graduating seniors who have participated in Drama. Break a leg, guys!

The cast of Joseph poses for a great looking cast picture. These hard-working cast members rehearsed every Wednesday night and Sunday afternoon in preparation for their smashing musical performance. While they were watched by many audience members, their hard work definitely showed!

The Winter Cotillion

December 13, 2002

The Winter Cotillion is the last special event before the winter vacation. For all those who attend, it is a special and dazzling night that is set up and sponsored by the senior class. The crowning of the "Snow Princess" was a new event this year at the Cotillion. The "Snow Princess" was chosen by a professional photographer and the policeman present at the dance. Other activities included dancing, enjoying refreshments, and listening to the great music. It is a good time to catch up with old friends or to get to know people better. It was definitely a spectacular and enchanting night to remember for all who attended the 2002 Winter Cotillion.

Senior class president, Ryan Gilbert, and the Snow Princess of 2002, Jen Jones, take a break from all the excitement by slowing it down a bit. The lucky lady, who was crowned as the "Snow Princess," was chosen by a professional photographer, aided by the duty policeman. Their decision was announced towards the end of the dance this year, but it was well worth the wait. This Cotillion will be Ryan and Jen's last and what a way to finish it!

Michelle Serio, Andrea Knowles, Colleen Cannistra
Tina Chen, and Kristin Olofson are all smiles at t dance this year. Many sophomores, like them, tended the Cotillion set up by the senior class.

Joining in with the line-dancing, Damian Perry a Matt O'Donnell show us what they're made of. The popular dance songs are often played at the danc and it looks like these two sophomore boys ha caught on quickly!

Don't they look cute? We catch a shot of Eileen Ryan and Mike Pelland enjoying one of the few slow songs played at this year's winter dance. All who attended agreed that the decorations and music were great.

Bethanie Taylor and Alex Vanegas lead the crowd in an energetic dance. Many people like to join in the fun by learning the dances from their friends and people like Bethanie and Alex, who are experienced.

Chatting up a storm, this group of freshman girls flash smiles at the camera. They all look forward to their next three years in LHS.

Andrea Hardy, Alison Govoni, and Katie Kinch are dancing the night away and seem to be having lots of fun. Many people met at the dance to socialize and to see everyone all dressed up.

Senior Costume Day 2002

Cookie Monster Nick Kiernan takes a breath of fresh air, and looks around to see hungry underclassmen.

Seniors Memorable Moments

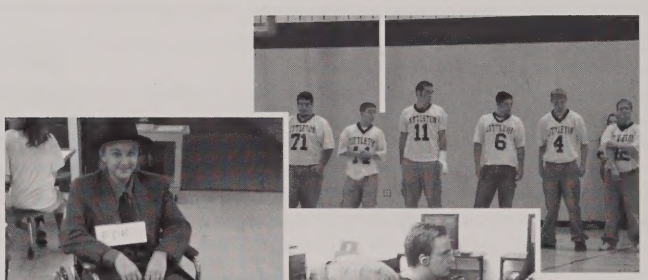
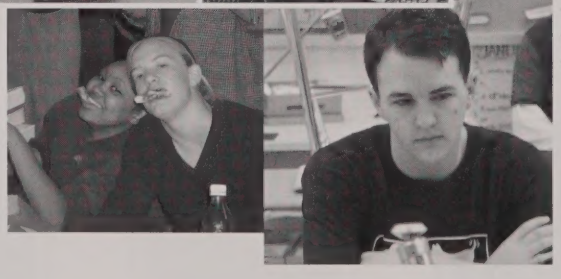
"PERHAPS EVEN THESE THINGS, ONE



The Littleton High School football team seniors stand proud as they announce their record for the year.

Nicole LaVigne gives a big smile as FDR for the traditional spirit week dress-up day.

MOO! Blue Cow Press staff members Alexi and Nate work hard on web layouts and news cast scripts.



These crazy girls veg out eating pizza, as they prepare for another grueling day at school.

John contemplates if it was really worth getting up early to come to school.

What makes a good leader? Julie Rodgers and Esther Kim attend a leadership seminar to learn special skills that make ordinary students become great leaders.

Dance the night away! Mike Rooney and Sarah Lyon give a pose at the Senior-hosted Winter Cotillion.

Computer Skills equals fun times at LHS! Eileen Ryan, Liz Serio and Cheryl Crory smiling while waiting for their printouts.

Class President and yearbook staff member, Ryan Gilbert, crops pictures as Jen jones, class treasurer, reads the imagine-ifs that never made it into the yearbook.

DAY, WILL BE PLEASING TO REMEMBER."

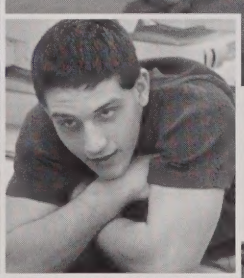
Uh-Oh! Casting his usual sinister smile, Jim must be up to something.

Ryan "Gogar" Gouen passes go and collects $200 in Accounting's annual Monopoly challenge!



DUH! Ryan Gilbert once again stares into space confused about the current situation.

New Media is fun! Scott Lanning designs a website in Dr. Dermer's Ineractive Media Design class.

Nicole Hatch works vigorously on yearbook pages for the final deadline.

I, Lani Adams, leave Shawna and Joey many more years here at the new school. I, Nicole Austermann, leave Greg Mauro my change for all his shutouts, Chris three more years, and the varsity field hockey team the best of luck. I, Kristine Benere, leave Sophy Tuttle a pair of geese and a T-bone steak, Andraya Lin Carvella her name pronounced with a soft C and field hockey the power to win the league title. I, Dan Blair, leave William Brule a notebook so that he may go to school prepared. I, Debby Budra, leave Nick Simmons his senior year, Shawna Lech three more years, and Fernando and the Nurse all our great memories. I, Nathan Campbell, leave the crazy dance to Mark Fidler and Andy Thibeault. I, John Cannistraro, leave ZSNES and all of my SNES ROM's on the tech lab computers to be enjoyed by anyone with a passion for classic gaming in school. I, Stephen Cantino, leave Jenna two more years and my truck, Lori, 12 more years of school, Mrs. Chaple my utmost, long-lasting, undivided and unintentional respect, Ms. Rich, the best of luck in life and Hirtle the hope of education. I, Thomas Casey, leave Matty, Jeff, Greg, Jimmy, Rob and Steve one more year to win states, Melissa something, and Jimmy my superior high-jump abilities. I, Maryanne Cleary, leave Nicole the legacy of "ultimate cheerleading" and James three more years of high school. I, Jeff Colombo, leave LHS knowing that nothing gets more people's attention than Blitzkrieg Bop at 8:00 in the morning. I, Erin Cook, leave Tebo the best of luck in his last year and lots of love and friendship. I, Cheryl Crory, leave JMO my heart on the soccer field, the team the best of luck and Jeff and Greg one more year for being state champs. I, Kerry Dates, leave Sophy one more year of scoring, Katie one more year of sanity and best of luck to the field hockey team. I, Jason Davis, leave my sister Julie three more years of the best years of her life, and to my junior crew, you know who you are, the legacy of the funniest group I will probably ever meet. I, Alexi Drosos, leave the Greek population in the school back to zero, the football team to find a new designated "Guy who always comes in last" person, and LHS without a battlebot team. I, Emily Estep, leave Andrea Sarvela a new sister, Melissa and Jeff plenty of camp stories and Dr. Dermer knowing she survived me. I, Jenn French, leave my little sister, Lauren, the legacy of the "A" Group, Kate Axtman, Yolanda, and the Varsity Field Hockey team the best of luck. I, Pearl Gaedtke, leave Albi a taxi, Erik "Cute", Andrea Yolanda, and my friends all my luck and love. I, Laura Garcia, leave Andrew Oldenquist a lifetime supply of peanut butter and fluff sandwiches, Katie Kinch Donelan's, Mark Fidler paper and plastic bags and Matt O'Donnell wrinkly shirts and neckties. I, Scott Georgianna, leave Matt Moniz the time he came in third in lasts year's pie eating contest. I, Ryan Gilbert, leave my sisters and brother the best of luck in their years to come and the days when "Bonnie" the pig ruled Anatomy class. I, Gogar, leave Colin the legacy of Gogar to live up to, and a long, but hopefully fun way to go to LHS. I, Maria Gorski, leave many hours of Saturday school and knowing high school was one big party. I, Andrea Graham, leave Joe one more year, and the fact that I am taking everything else. I, Brittany Graham, leave Joe one more year and good luck to the field hockey team. I, Elizabeth Hamblett, leave Jenna Cantino the memory of the original three neighbors who always stuck together, and the good times that we always shared since our first years of school. I, Andrea Hardy, leave Kimi to finally get her license. I, Kelly Haroules, leave Alison Govoni all the memories on the old school risers. I, Walker Hartz, leave Meg some patience and something to do. I, Nicole Hatch, leave Katie one more year of singing the sound of music at Donelan's, Meghan our conversations during study, and Jenn and Sophy UBS's and Beach parties. I, Lindsay Hufnagel, leave Anna Hand and Chris Paige a great senior years and best of luck to everyone. I, Jessica Ippolito, leave Alison Govoni blonde hair dye and MS, and Kristine Smith a bag of 194 potatoes. I, Dan Irwin, leave my sister, Laura, a year left in the house, the class of 2003 built and to LHS, the legacy of the Judge. I, Krystle Jean, leave Kevin the best of luck in his next three years of school knowing that there is a whole world out there and my love. I, Jennifer Jones, leave Chris a fun filled senior year and the class of 2003 the best of luck. I, Nick Kiernan, leave LHS knowing the Kiernan legacy has come and gone. I, Liana Kingsley, leave Rachel two more years and Sam five more years. I, Alicia Knox, leave 'the altos'- the memories of all those fun times in chorus, Michael, my car and two more years, Paul, three more years and Bea seven more years. I, Scott Lanning, leave Nate, Alex, and Matt one more "fun" year. I, Jared LaSante, leave Jim two more years of soccer and track, and Ryan and Amber the best of luck. I, Nicole LaVigne, leave Brie five more years, Beth and Erin my seat on the bench, and the Girls Varsity soccer team the best of luck. I, Nicole Lorenson, leave Anna her own day, my chicken fingers all my love and the best of luck in the future, Matt/Martha some Italian bread, and Chuck my heart forever. I, Andy Loven, leave my unparalled ability to procrastinate to those who have not yet learned that everything is best done at the last minute. I, Sarah Lyon, leave Jason three more long years, Kim, Rebecca and Megan fun at bells, and Katie the wonderful world of Donelan's. I, Monet Meunier, leave Get.A.Key two more years and more fun with Yolanda, Kate much luck in your senior year and Meg luck in the years to come. I, B.J. Monat, leave Caitlyn a great senior year and the luck to survive English Criticals. I, John Moniz, leave all my friends and family the same love and support they gave me throughout my life, and the memory of my best friend, Christa Oldenquist to live on forever. I, Kelly Oslin, leave the tennis and basketball teams to best of luck. I, Emily Palange, leave Mrs. Nurse paper clips, Mrs. Coburn Dunkin Donuts, Mr. Hurtle the cow, and Alissa three more years at LHS. I, Michael Pelland, leave the intercom to AT, the cow suit to MF and RC, Applebee's to the band, first chair to DR, Betucchi's to UBS, study hall to MF, my legendary name to SP, and friendship to all the procrastinators, comedians and immature teenagers of LHS. I, Nick Pillitteri, leave with a smile on my face and my thumbs up. I, Jon Powers, leave my left pinky after that blasted cotton gin incident. I, A.J. Rauker, leave Feehan marios and Patrick, Tyler and Eric the best of luck and the best of times of high school. I, Julie Rodgers, leave Jenn Anthony and Sophy Tuttle one more year of track memories and Amy the best of luck. I, Michael Rooney, leave Andy Thibeault and crew the legacy of Saturday night camp out, and my sister Kristen two marvelous years in the intrepid with the "Mad River Glen" sticker. I, Sabrina Shimmel, leave Jen Fladasz strapige and one more fun year. I, Andrew Tambling, leave this place and Mr. Buckey with one less problem. I, Bethanie Taylor, leave Albi my country music and a fun senior year, Tommy and Casey all my love, and the halls of LHS void of the original A's. I, Melissa Thomas, leave Cailtyn Monat our childhood memories, Nick Simmons my love, and Jef our mac'n cheese. I, Alex Vanegas, leave duct tape on the wall and Albi, Anthrax and CFO. I, Midori Williams, leave Nick Williams a one-way plane ticket to San Diego,California. I, Valerie Wolf, leave Jen, Dana and Rob Kimball's, Katie Kinch Donelan's and Mark Fidler volumizing shampoo. I, Max Wyneken, leave Mark Fidler my set of keys to the Carribbean pirate treasure.

"TIME GOES BY SO FAST, PEOPLE GO IN AND OUT OF YOUR LIFE. YOU MUST NEVER

Community Service Coordinator

Nancy Morrison volunteers her time to help keep track of the community service hours that students perform. The classes of '03 and '04 must complete 28 hours and the classes of '05 and '06 need 36 hours.

Custodians

Mark Parlon, Fernando Fernandez, and George Dumas serve an essential role in the school, working on everything from cleaning the class rooms and halls to delivering teaching supplies. Though understaffed, our custodial staff does a great job.

Bus Drivers

Where would we be without our bus drivers? Whenever you go on a field trip, need a ride to a sports game, or you just want to get home, Carol Loring, Carol Bennett, Lisalee Howard, Tizzy Wood, Cathy Goddard, Laurie Cooney, Jack Griffin, Jolene Gillins, Helen Hamm, Chris Whitcomb, Sherri Lizotte, and Kim McCrady are there to help.

Cafeteria Staff (middle)

Young Mai Hwang, Sheila McLaughlin, Seana Hebb, and Joanne Lyon all work hard to provide us with breakfasts and lunches throughout the school day. Their services are appreciated greatly by both the faculty and students.

English

The limits of my language means the limits of my world
—Ludwig Wittgenstein

English IV
Krystal Jean asks questions of Mr. Spaulding during English class. Using Wordly Wise, essay writing, and novels such as Macbeth, students will strengthen their critical thinking and writing skills.

Humanities
After sliding this wall to the side, Mrs. Coburn and Mrs. Holt have the option of team teaching in their adjoining class rooms. During this time, students learn about the human race through projects involving English and history skills.

English III

Here students research authors for their critical review. In addition to developing the writing skills needed for this essay, students will study literature, such as Hamlet.

English II

J.J. Donelly reads aloud to his English class, as he has become very well-known for doing. In this class, students read such classics as Shakespeare's Merchant of Venice, and Dante's The Inferno.

English I

Students in this class review for a quiz. Freshmen enrolled in this course study the areas of grammar, composition, literature, and vocabulary .

Mr. Turner

Likely grading calculus or precalculus papers, Mr. Turner works steadily and satisfies his awaiting students by correcting so quickly, which oddly enough seems to be a trait of math teachers.

Calculus

Midori Williams, Andrea Graham, and Nick Pillitteri concentrate during a test in their calculus class led by Ms. Manning. A graphing calculator can be a student's best friend in this class, especially when students are learning about limits, differentiation, and integration!

Geometry

Mr. Herrick directs a geometry class. Points, planes, proportions, and polygons are studied throughout this course usually taken by freshmen and sophomores. This course first introduces students to proofs.

Geometry (Honors)

Corie Mae Callaluca shows her skills to Miss Lordan in her freshman geometry class. In this course students complete proofs and work with postulates and theorems.

U.S. History
Ramone Torres and Nick Scott create posters in the project room for their U.S. History Class. The main focus of this course is to study the economic, political, and social aspects of our nation.

European History
Students from Mrs. Coburn's sophomore European History course participate in a class discussion. During the year, pupils study events from the Renaissance through the twentieth century.

History of Non-Western World
Students "Do that RAP" as Mr. O'Connell looks over one of the many reading quizzes he distributes throughout the year.

Chemistry I

Mark Cavallo and Mike MacLearn perform an experiment during science. This course teaches students the fundamentals of chemistry using both written and hands-on learning.

Physics I

Peter Harvey and Erin Mizzoni get ready for physics class. Using investigation and problem solving, this course will introduce students to the topics of forces, motion, sound, light, and energy.

Biology

Students in this class complete a worksheet. Using this method of teach and experimentation, students will learn about cells, life, adaptation, evolution, and ecology.

Environmental Science

Kerry Dates, Meghan Scully, and Nancy Brule work in the tech lab in Environmetal Science. During this course, an understandingof the natural world will be reached through study of ecology, biodiversity, pollution, and other related topics.

Chemistry I
The students in this chemistry class will have the option to go on to Chemistry II. There they will further expand upon the skills they learned in Chemistry I.

Foreign Language

Language is not only the vehicle of thought, it is a great and efficient instrument in thinking.
—Humphrey Davy

Spanish IV-V
Shane Melone, Steve Higgins, and Joe Graham work together on a group project. By the end of their fourth and fifth year of Spanish, students will have the skills required to speak Spanish on an in-depth level.

French III
Colleen Cannistraro and Brandie Heighes get ready for French class. In this class greater emphasis is placed on reading the French language, while maintaining the other skills developed in French II.

French IV-V

Rebecca Smith, Stephanie Oder, and Matt Satterfield present to their French class. Like Spanish IV-V, after taking these classes, students will be at a level where they can speak, write, read, and hear French easily.

Spanish II

Geri Kinch and Krystle Heighes work together on a group project. This class further increases students' vocabulary and knowledge of Spanish culture, enabling them to accurately express their ideas.

French I

Students in French I are learning how to conjugate verbs. This course will teach the basics of the French language and prepare students for further study in this field.

Nurse

Ryan Ersland visits the Nurse's office with a bloody nose. This comforting place is one where injured or ailing students can go to recuperate, gather themselves, or just feel better.

Wellness

Students in Mr. Lynn's F-Mod class learn the basics of basketball. During the year students will also participate in football, soccer, hockey, lacrosse, and a variety of other team and individual sports.

Special Education

Sabrina Shimmel and Rebecca O'Donnell work with their instructor, Mr. Hirtle, in their special education class. This class helps students to strengthen their skills in many subject areas.

Wellness

Erin Mizzoni works out in the new weight room. This fitness area is quite an improvement from last year's, partly because we have all new equipment. It is wonderful!

History of Jazz
Mr. Foley entertains jazz students by hopelessly trying to make Ryan Gilbert understand yet another "difficult" music theory.

Basic Art 1
Mrs. Hallstein assists Dan Weiss and Kevin Jean as they create one of the many original projects completed in Basic Art. Many different drawing styles are introduced and explored throughout this course.

Band
Amy Rodgers and Heather Trumbull practice their clarinets. Students in band work on music throughout the year in preparation for their two concerts.

Photography

Dr. Dermer and Erik Greenaway explore the possibilites of photography enhancement. Throughout the semester, students are asked to complete several photograhy projects on different topics.

Video

Senior Nick Kiernan works on a project for Dr. Dermer's video class. Students in this class are often asked to record school functions and events which they can use towards extra credit points.

Computer Skills and Application

The freshmen in this Computer Skills class seem to be working very hard on their assignment. This class prepares students with basic computer skills such as touch-typing that will be used in every day life.

Integrated Technology

Students work on computer assignments during Integrated Technology. Assignments in this class utilize word processing, spreadsheet, presentation, and database software.

leaving their marks

Senior Cheryl Crory keeps her eye on the ball as she prepares to swing. Cheryl's performance at bat was persistently strong and had a great impact on the team's success.

Jen Faldasz follows through with her solid swing as her teammates cheer her on from behind the batting cage. Jen, a junior, efficiently played both first base and pitcher.

Sophomore Courtney Haroules, with a distressed look on her face, uses her muscles to release an accurate pitch. Courtney, with her strong arm, contributed much to the team's success out on the field.

The team huddles on the pitcher's mound to finalize game plans and shout out one final team cheer before taking up positions on the field.

Junior Kate Axtman releases a forceful throw to the infield. She contributed much to the outfield with her strong, accurate throwing ability.

Senior Kristine Benere attempts to rob the other team of a hit. As an outfielder, Kristine proved to be an asset to the team.

Senior Andrea Hardy heaves the ball from the outfield to the infield. Her position in right outfield contributed much to the team's success last season.

Freshman Casey Hoole releases a solid throw and watches as it soars to its intended destination. Despite her freshman status, Casey helped out the team in all aspects.

Andrea Sarvela releases the ball towards the infield. Her skills as an outfielder provided much talent to the team.

Look at that form! Bobby Gibbons stretches out in order to throw the baseball and get the other player out. His quick reactions and strong arm helped the team to succeed.

Bobby Gibbons slides into home plate to earn a run for Littleton. His ability to run fast and swing hard makes him a key player in the game.

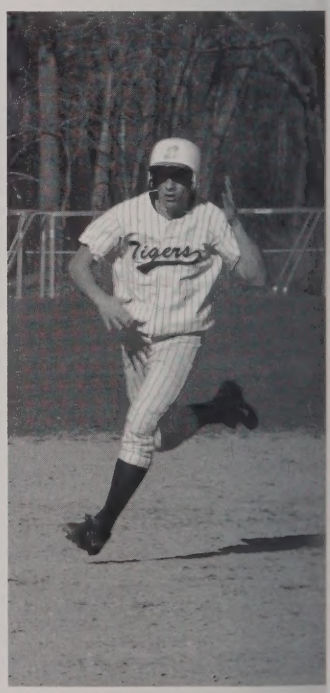
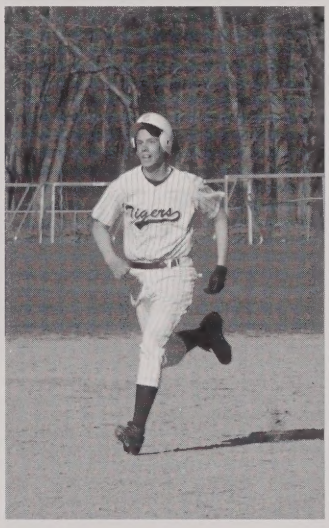
Littleton's catcher, Brian Mizzoni, gives the pitcher the signal to throw the ball and gets in the position to catch it. Brian's strong knees and quick eye are an asset for a catcher.



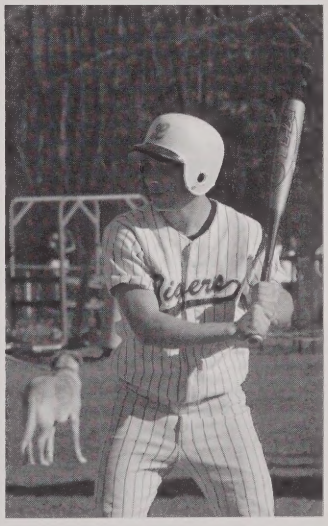
Senior Andrew Tambling, with his head in the game, strides from second to third base.

Andrew Tambling hits a fast ball and drives it hard into the outfield. His great hits earn Littleton many runs.

Junior Erick Clerico races against the ball to second base. Speed is needed in baseball, and Erick sure does have it.



Junior Steve Donelly focuses on catching the ball while the opponent tries to slide into second base. Steve contributes much to the team with his second baseman skills.



Andrew Tambling, preparing to swing, concentrates on the the ball. Andrew's crack of the bat sent many base runners home.

Junior Joe Graham attempts to steal second base while the pitcher isn't looking. Stealing a base is a great way to earn a quick run, and Joe is great at it.

Sophomore Kristin Olofson bounds over a hurdle in the women's 100 meter high hurdle race. In addition to the high hurdles, Kristin also competes in the 330 meter low hurdle race.

Junior Pete Harvey, one of only two Littleton male hurdlers, proves he can do anything as he dominates the race. His determination wins him the gold!

In the long jump, sophomore Michelle Serio leaps with all her might! As one of Littleton's aspiring athletes, Michelle promises much for the future of Littleton track!

Jim Colombo, in the 100 meter sprint, pushes to cross the finish line. Jim, a league all star, earns many points to help the team to victory!

Senior Alex Venegas is neck and neck with a Bromfield athlete. As one of the most versatile athletes, she succeeded in both the 100 and 400 meter races.

Dan Roop concentrates as he lines up his next shot. This freshman's great accuracy is an asset to the team.

With his back to the sun, Chris Boutiette positions himself and envisions the ball landing in the hole.

Dan Korening focuses his eyes on the ball and positions his hands for a smooth putt. He was one of the many young members of the golf team.

Andrew Derrig chips a nice shot out of the sand trap to make birdie. He is great with the sand wedge.

Junior Amy Rodgers lunges at her opponent for possession of the ball as Senior Jenn French backs her up. Both members were assests to the forward line up and the team as a a whole this season.

One of many strong links, Nicole Austermann begins to drive the ball down the field as she did so many times during the eighteen-game season.

Senior forward, Katie Callaluca, prepares to steal the ball from two opposing players. As one of the varsity team's key players, Katie contributed strongly to this season's forward line up.

Bethanie Taylor, senior, takes the ball towards the net. Bethanie's ability to play many postitions such as halfback and forward were much appreciated by her teammates.

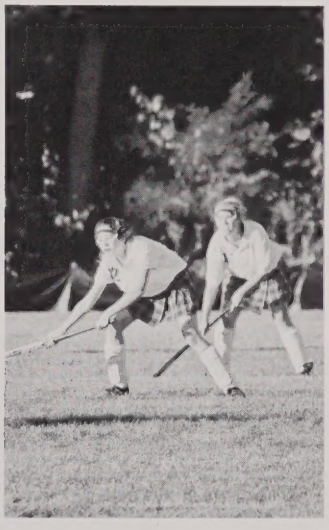
Junior Amy Rodgers, a new member of the varsity team, stretches to stop a ball coming off a strong competitor. At her forward position, Amy will be depended on greatly next year.



Halfback Kristine Benere and forward Julie Rodgers are two of ten graduating seniors on the varsity team. These excellent players will sincerely be missed in years to come.

Nicole Austermann, a senior, winds up for one of her consistantly strong drives. The field hockey team will definitely miss Nicole at her link position.

Captain Jeff Harasimowicz scans the field for an open teammate to pass to. Jeff, a senior at The Bromfield School, received the Outstanding Offensive Award.

LHS's intimidating tiger mascot entertains the crowd, accompanies the cheerleaders, and boosts the team's morale from the sidelines. Who is the tiger? John Moniz or Dan LeClair might growl the answer.

The Tigers' determined offense gets ready to go out for a play. Great strategizing and planning leads the team to a successful season.

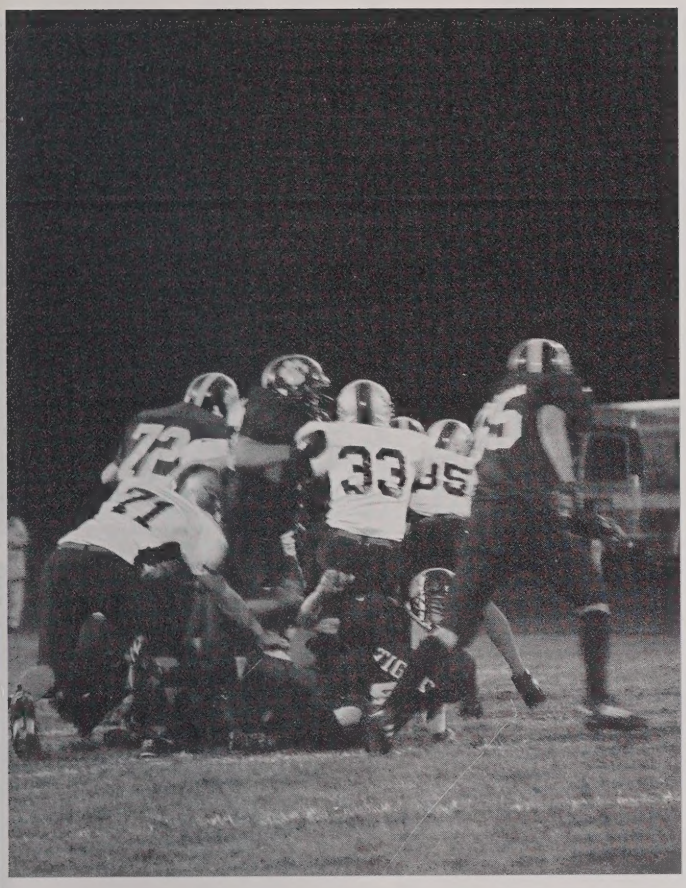
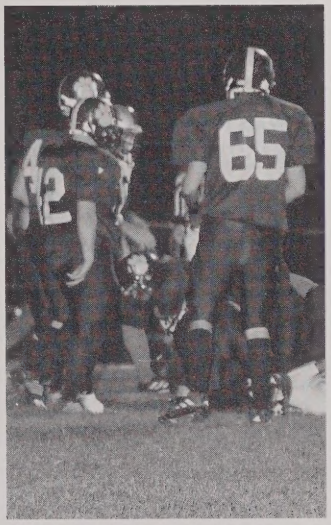
Craig Harasimowicz cradles the football as he cautiously makes his way forward to gain some yardage. Craig, a junior at Bromfield High School, was honored with the Tiger Award.

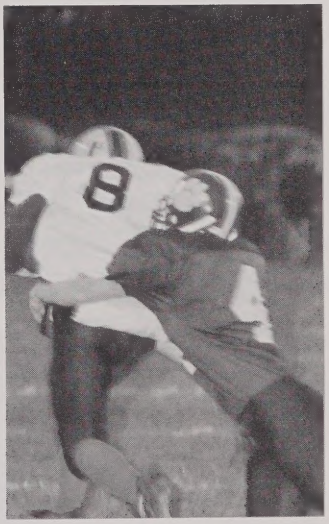


A Littleton teammate with possession of the ball is bombarded with the Lowell Catholic Senators, as the Tiger's defense struggles to pick off the opposing players.

Littleton teamates regroup after an intense play and mentally prepare each other for the upcoming play.



The Littleton Tigers gather on the sidelines to get a heads up from the coaches. The coaches inform the players of their strengths and weaknesses.



Senior Walker Hartz manages to wrap his arms around the opponent's waist for a swift, clean tackle. Walker, one of the four captains this past season, was awarded the Outstanding Defensive Player Trophy.

The Tigers go head-to-head with the Lowell Catholic Senators as Littleton prepares to hike the ball as the offensive line gets in position.

Sophomore Colette Chandonait rushes downfield with an opposing player close behind. Colette earned herself the Defensive Player of the Year Award.

Freshman Erica Crory carries the ball out of the Tigers end. A first year varsity player, Erica proved to hold her own this season.

Junior Captain Andrea Sarvela takes the ball downfield. A dedicated and important member to this team, Andrea's presence is appreciated always.

Senior Captain Cheryl Crory dribbles the ball downfield. Cheryl proved to be a great aspect to the team and was named a Central Mass All Star as well as a Lowell Sun All Star.

Forward Ashley Dutcher goes head-to-head with the opposing team's defender. As a freshman, she proved herself capable to play at the varsity level.

Junior Jenn Nader sets up for one of the Tigers winning plays. Jenn contributed tremendously to the team this year.

Cheryl Crory, a senior captain, dazzles the crowd with one of her famous lay-ups. Cheryl always amazed the fans with her abilities to play through the pain of an injured knee.

Senior Captain Kelly Oslin dribbles the ball down the court in order to rack up those Tiger points. A talented member of this team, Kelly proved to be a dominant force for the Tigers.

Junior Meg Benton maintains control of the ball as she looks for a teammate to pass to. Meg has shown her aggresiveness for the Tigers throughout the season.

Junior Andrea Sarvela prepares to unleash one of her superior shots. As a key member of the team, Andrea pulled through strong during the season.

Coach Pat Goddard takes a timeout to keep these Tigers pumped! Succeeding Coach Harhen, this is his first year coaching at the Varsity level for the Lady Tigers.

Senior Tom Casey unleashes one of his infamous lay-ups. His all-around basketball skills led the Tigers roaring force on the court.

Senior Max Wyneken positions the ball to release a shot on net. Max's positive attitude and sense of humor boosted the teams morale.

Junior Rob Scott wrestles for the ball against a fierce opponent. Rob's aggressiveness dominates on the court.

Senior Walker Hartz carries the ball towards the net through a cluster of opponents. His determination to lead the team to success will be deeply missed.

Junior Greg Mauro rushes to the hoop as he is pressured by an opponent. Working up a sweat, Greg's trademark sweatbands come into play.

Alexi Drosos

Dear Alexi—
We've watched you grow up and have had an uncountable amount of laughs. You've given us so much love and so many hugs, we can hardly begin to tell you how proud we are and how much joy you bring to our lives. Instead of the same cheesy last line, all that needs to be said is— ROCK ON, STAY FOCUSED, and AIM HIGH!

With all our love, Mom, Dad, and Athena

Liz Hamblett

You're on Your Way!

Liz, my wonderful, thoughtful and caring daughter. Not a day goes by that you don't have a smile on your face. Keep that smile always, for it will take you far in life and remember, whatever road you may choose, let God by your co-pilot.
Love always,
Mom

From Childhood To Graduation

As you walk alone down the beach, you will find peace and quiet at night. You would hear the sound of the waves hitting against the rocks. Sometimes when I am alone I sit on the beach and think things out to see what is best for me. I also think about what the future will hold for me and what my best interest in life will be. When I graduate from school next year, hopefully I will be working at some job that I will enjoy a lot.

The Last Step

The Year Book Staff extends appreciation to Mrs. Chaple and Ms. Rich, Mike Morin, Cheryl Crory, the Section Editors, the Business Staff, John Neister and Jostens, Mr D. and Mr. Buckey, the teachers, local businesses, parents, and all those who contributed. We could not have done it without you!

You've surpassed the initial stress of entering high school. You've survived the endless note taking of sophomore year. You've beaten the rigorous days of "college preparation" junior year. And finally . . . the finish line is near. Your muscles burn and your feet ache. You pass one opponent, confidence growing with each step. Your fears dissolve and your legs seem to soar. It has taken hard work and dedication, but you've finally done it. You've finally reached
